NEW EMPLOYEES

ONLINE ORIENTATION

Newly hired employees should have completed a variety of activities through the online orientation prior to their first day of employment, including:

- ⇒ Completion of required documentation: personal information verification, and I-9, W4, and G4 forms. Each of these sections requires an electronic signature that is stored and tracked through a database.
- ⇒ Reviewing and reading important, required information: Policies, Trust Line, Health and Safety.
- ⇒ Reviewing the benefits and services available to employees. Employees are given the option to sign-up for an in-person benefits session through the web site. New employees have 31 days from their date of hire to enroll in their benefits. Failure to enroll within the 31-day window will result in the employee having to wait until the annual benefits enrollment period, typically held in the fall of each year, to select coverage.

If you would like to watch the online orientation video or any additional HR videos, you can view the on the HR link:

BENEFITS

BENEFITS ELIGIBILITY

Regular full-time or part-time employees scheduled to work 20 hours or more per week are eligible for benefits.

Full-time temporary positions on a six-month or longer assignment are eligible for health, dental, vision and life insurance, but not disability.

If you elect coverage, your dependents are also eligible for health, dental, vision and life insurance coverage. Eligible dependents include:

- Your legal spouse.
- Your Same-Sex Domestic Partner (SSDP): Another adult of the same sex who is engaged with you in a spouse-like relationship characterized by mutual dependency. If you choose to cover a same-sex domestic partner, you will pay the same cost and receive the same coverage as you would for a spouse. Covering a domestic partner will result in additional tax liability (imputed income). If your relationship ends, you will need to notify the Benefits Department (Family Status Change).
- Your legal child(ren): Child includes your natural, adopted or foster child(ren), stepchild(ren), your SSDP's child(ren) or any child for whom you have legal custody. They are eligible if:
 - ⇒ Up to age 26
 - ⇒ Over age 26 if totally and permanently disabled and financially dependent on you (must be covered prior to age 19)

Dependent Verification Eligibility

When you first enroll, or if you change coverage mid-year due to a qualified IRS Family Status Change, you may be required to provide documentation substantiating the eligibility of your dependent(s) within 31 days of the change or enrollment. If documentation is not received within 31 days, you will be mailed a letter requesting the documentation within a given deadline.

BENEFITS

BENEFITS ENROLLMENT

Eligible new employees can enroll through Self Service anytime during the first 31 days of employment. If you do not enroll during your first 31 days of employment, you will not receive coverage. Your next opportunity to enroll will be during the annual enrollment.

Annual enrollment is held in the fall of each year. During this time, current benefits-eligible Emory employees have an opportunity to review benefit elections and make changes for the upcoming plan year. Campus Services hosts benefits enrollment meetings during this time to inform employees of changes to benefit plans. Benefits open lab sessions are also held during this time to allow employees a chance to enroll in the in plans.

Benefit changes are normally allowed only during annual enrollment due to IRS regulations. However, if you experience a qualifying Family Status Change, you can make benefit changes mid-year as long as you make the change within 31 days of the event by contacting your Benefits Specialist.

Some common Family Status Changes include:

- ⇒ Marriage
- ⇒ Divorce, legal separation or annulment
- ⇒ Birth of a child
- ⇒ Placement of a foster child or a child for adoption with you, or assumption of legal guardianship of a child
- ⇒ Change in your spouse/SSDP's or dependent's employment status that affects benefit eligibility, including termination or commencement of employment, or change in worksite
- ⇒ Death of your spouse/SSDP or dependent
- ⇒ Change in your employment that affects benefits eligibility (working at least 20 hours per week)
- ⇒ Loss of eligibility for a dependent

The HSA plan is a consumer-driven medical plan with a Health Savings Account, puts you in charge of how your health care dollars are spent. The POS plan is a conventional medical plan where members pay co-pays for some services (co-pays are fixed fee amounts that you pay at the time you receive services).

Dental Plan:

For 2016, Emory employees can choose from two types of dental plans: the Aetna Traditional Dental (PPO) or the Aetna Dental Maintenance Organization (DMO).

Vision Plan:

Emory offers employees an optional vision plan through EyeMed Vision Care. The plan includes routine eye exams and equipment (lenses, frames, contacts, etc.).

Flexible Spending Account (FSA):

A Flexible Spending Account (FSA) is funded with money you contribute on a pre-tax basis. You can use FSA funds to pay for qualified out-of-pocket health care costs for you and eligible dependents or dependent day care charges. Emory offers both a Healthcare Flexible Spending Account and Dependent Day Care Flexible Spending Account.

Health Spending Account:

Employees who select the HSA Plan can receive, earn and save pre-tax contributions through a Health Savings Account (HSA). The HSA is funded in three ways — by Emory's annual contribution, your participation in various wellness activities (incentives), and through optional contributions you make to the HSA.

PRIDE IN OUR WORK.

POLICIES & PROCEDURES

TIME AWAY FROM WORK

Time & Attendance Policy

Policy 2.53 - <http://policies.emory.edu/2.53>

To provide timely and accurate payment of wages to employees, the Payroll Department requires employees to adhere to strict standards of accurate time keeping and attendance.

FM Time and Attendance Policy:

All employees are expected to arrive at work and begin work by their designated start time and remain on duty until the end of their scheduled work shift/day. This policy is designed to provide attendance expectations, outline the appropriate procedures to follow for scheduled and unscheduled absences, and identify consequences for those employees who do not meet attendance and punctuality expectations. The policy is not intended to supersede University regulations or policies and should be read in conjunction with university regulations, policies and procedures.

Procedures:

1. Clock In/Clock Out

- Clocking-in up to seven (7) minutes after the scheduled start time will not result in a tardy. Beginning a shift eight minutes or more after the scheduled start of the shift is considered a late arrival or tardy.
- Authorization to clock out prior to end of a scheduled work shift must be obtained from the supervisor in advance in order to ensure proper coverage is arranged.
- Supervisors may use their discretion to determine if an employee can make up missed time for arriving late or leaving early, and if the unscheduled absence will impact the employee's attendance record.

POLICIES & PROCEDURES

CS Time and Attendance Policy (cont.):

- Only in certain circumstances will employees be allowed to use accrued sick time to cover time missed due to a late arrival/tardiness.
- Employees must not accrue overtime by clocking in/out eight (8) minutes before/after their scheduled work hours unless it is approved in advance by their supervisor.

2. Call-In

- An employee who is unable to report to work for his/her scheduled work shift is required to call his/her Supervisor prior to the start of the scheduled shift. For instances of consecutive days of absence, the employee is required to call the supervisor each day until either the employee returns to work, a leave of absence is approved, or confirmation from the supervisor that daily calls are no longer necessary.
- If unable to speak with the supervisor, a voice message should be left which includes the reason for not reporting to work, e.g., personal illness, personal emergency. Note: Use of sick leave is outlined in Emory University Policy 4.34 and Policy 4.33.
- Absences of three (3) or more consecutive days due to an illness or injury require a medical release from the employee's healthcare provider in order to return to work. The statement from the healthcare provider must confirm the dates of absence from work as well as the return to work date, and any applicable restrictions.
- Absences may be covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act
- An employee who fails to call his/her supervisor for three (3) consecutive scheduled work shifts is subject to separation from employment due to job abandonment in accordance with Emory University Policy 4.65 – Separations from Employment.

POLICIES & PROCEDURES

TIME AWAY FROM WORK

CS Time and Attendance Policy (cont.):

3. Breaks & Meal Periods

- Supervisors will provide their direct reports with the break/lunch times for their respective work groups(s).
- Employees are expected to take breaks and lunch as assigned by or agreed upon with their supervisor.
- Breaks other than meal periods must be no longer than fifteen (15) minutes and may occur twice during a regular 8-hour work shift.
- With advance supervisor approval, break periods can be used to extend the meal period. Fifteen-minute break times are forfeited if not taken.

4. Requesting Leave

- Requests to use accrued leave should be submitted to and approved by the employee's supervisor at least five (5) days in advance of the leave.
- Supervisors may use their discretion to take into consideration unusual circumstances and approve requests submitted with less than five (5) days' notice.

Guidelines for Absences

An absence is considered scheduled when requested and approved at least five (5) days in advance. An absence is considered unscheduled when it is not requested and approved at least five (5) days in advance. This includes "call-ins", tardiness, or leaving the workplace before the end of scheduled work shift. Supervisors may take into consideration the mitigating circumstances of an unscheduled absence.

POLICIES & PROCEDURES

CS Time and Attendance Policy (cont.):

An unscheduled absence is time away from work that is not requested and approved at least five (5) days in advance. This includes "call ins", tardiness, or leaving the workplace before the end of scheduled work hours.

Pattern of Absences: Unscheduled absences occurring on a predictable basis.

- 1) The day before or after a scheduled holiday, vacation, or personal day
- 2) On a desirable day off, a specific day of the week, or a weekend
- 3) A specific or unique work day
- 4) As sick leave or vacation time off is accrued (get a day, take a day)

Although the specific action taken in each instance will be determined at the discretion of the appropriate Director/Asst. Director, the chart below illustrates the

Non-Exempt Employees (Bi-Weekly)

Employees who are paid on a bi-weekly basis (in a non-exempt status) track their time using Kronos, an automated time and attendance system that uses the telephone for recording hours worked. Timekeepers can also print out reports for supervisors to review their employees' time for that pay period.

Daily Time Reports (DTRs)

Some Campus Services employees are required to complete Daily Time Reports (DTRs). DTRs are completed by employees and serve as a record of work performed during the day. PLANNING, DESIGN & CONSTRUCTION

Our Organization

As a unit within the Campus Services Department, the office of Planning, Design and Construction (PDC) ensures that an appropriate level of stewardship for the Emory campus physical environment and infrastructure is applied to the ongoing design and development of the Emory campus. As a result of this integrated commitment, Emory is held as a model for sustainable development in higher education across the country.

Such a commitment to sustainable and environmentally conscious development demands a thorough and responsible understanding and translation of Emory's current and futures needs as a leading academic institution. Our staff of project managers, interior and graphic designers integrate their specialized areas of expertise into cohesive planning principles to ensure the delivery of projects that facilitate the University's growth and development while meeting the University's strategic sustainability goals.

SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVES

Green Building

According to the Southface Energy Institute, the construction, operation and maintenance of buildings produce close to 48 percent of all U.S. greenhouse gas emissions, making green building one of the most important things an institution can do to reduce its carbon footprint and impact on air quality. In 2001, Emory adopted the U.S. Green Building Council's LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) standards as a guiding principal in all new major construction projects. Currently, all construction projects must at a minimum meet LEED Silver Certification.

Emory's LEED buildings

The University holds the distinction of having one of the largest inventories by square footage of LEED-certified building space among campuses in America. Many buildings on campus have attained LEED certification ranging from Certified to Gold levels, including the first certified Gold LEED-EB (existing building) in the country, the Goizueta Business School in 2004, and the first LEED-certified building constructed in the Southeast in 2000 (Whitehead Biomedical Research Building).

What is LEED building?

The LEED program was established by the United States Green Building Council \(USGBC\) to promote environmentally friendly, whole building design practices. By establishing these standards for green building, the demand for materials and supplies that are resource conscious will increase, thus, causing manufacturers to respond with more green products in the market place. Designers are encouraged to think in new and different ways to help create buildings that will conserve energy, water, and the project site's natural environment.

LEED certified buildings meet certain high standards for indoor air quality, energy and water conservation. A percentage of the materials are recycled, renewable or locally-sourced materials.

SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVES

Green Space

Emory University is a campus abundant with natural beauty, open spaces, trees and plant life. In fact, Emory's campus includes some of the most biodiverse forest inside Atlanta's I-285 perimeter. In 2004, Emory committed to:

Leave roughly half of the University's 700 acres of land undeveloped, supporting the protection of the Wesley Woods, Baker, and Lullwater forests.

Beginning in 2003, a University policy has required that campus land suffer "No-Net-Loss-of-Forest-Canopy," ensuring every time a tree is removed, trees be replanted to maintain the same forest canopy.

Lullwater Preserve

Right in the middle of Emory's campus, Lullwater Preserve offers acres of green space with trees, lawns and a lake for community members to enjoy. The estate is home to an English Tudor mansion where the University president lives with, by all appearances, at least 175 wildlife species as neighbors.

Emory's Forest Management Plan

Emory is committed to restoring and maintaining the connectivity of Emory's forests, particularly the natural corridor along South Peachtree Creek from Wesley Woods, through Harwood Forest and the Lullwater Preserve, within the context of its Piedmont origins.
